'Down Under' Fliers Arrive

Young airmen from Australia and New Zealand crowd decks at a Pacific coast port as they wait to step ashore for the first time in Canada.

A Mr. Pacific liner reached a port in western Canada this morning, her deck rails black with smiling, tanned, excited young recruits of the Royal Australian and New Zealand Air Forces.

They came to Canada to train under the British Commonwealth plan, which will send thousands of aviators in the new year or so to chase Nazi planes from European skies.

"Here we come, Canada," the boys in blue and grey shouted as the ship was warped alongside her pier.

On the dock waited Air Commodore A. E. Godfrey, head of Canada's western air command; group captain A. H. Hull, R.C.A.F.; group captain L. N. Laitt of the New Zealand air force and Flying Officer D. K. Whitlam, R.C.A.F., who will escort the contingent across Canada.

Within a few minutes of the liner's arrival the airmen lined up on the promenade decks for inspection and were then granted shore leave. People of the port wondered what it was all about, when they saw groups of aviators walking the streets, staring in shop windows, the Australians in a deep blue, the New Zealanders in bluish-grey, like the Canadian Air Force.

Two full-blooded Maoris were in the party. They were Joseph Naera, 18, just out of school, handsome, erect, looking forward to his new life in Canada and England, and Pine Takarangi, stout-chested, swarthy-skinned.

Howard Haselden, formerly a clerk in a gent's outfitting firm, hailed from Taewamutu, New Zealand. Richard Allsop, native of England, has been working in Adelaide the last three years. Charles Read was an assistant restaurant manager until a few weeks ago. Robert Gibb was a truck driver in New Zealand. Pilot Wm. Stewart, from Townsville, Queensland, said he was a "counter jumper" in a retail store. By that he meant he was a salesman. Air Gunner Athol Opat was a clerk in a Melbourne department store.

Murray MacDonald, from Shepparton, Victoria State, left his job as a auctioneer to join up. Sergeant Harry Cove worked on a railway in Sydney.

Only woman in the party was petite, efficient-looking Miss Evelyn Ward, nurse in the Royal Australian Air Force. She wore the blue of the force, with full

Aussie Aviators Financially Stranded

Australian and New Zealand aviators, who crowded down-town banks today, found themselves stranded in Canada with not a cent of usable money in their pockets.

They brought to the bank the British pound sterling notes with which they had been paid by their governments only to find that the pound sterling was not acceptable in any form in Canada.

Bank managers here long-distanced Bank of Canada officials who said nothing could be done, as only in the case of British sailors off British ships—can British money be accepted in exchange for Canadian currency.

Canadian air force men said it was an "insult" to the Australians and New Zealanders, who had come over to join the fight for the Empire, that they were left in Canada without money to buy even a postage stamp. They said arrangements to provide Canadian money for their men should have been made by the Australian and New Zealand governments.

Bankers here explained that many civilians arriving here with pounds sterling have been finding themselves stranded financially because British money will not be accepted for exchange.

The only way they have been able to get their pounds changed has been to ship the actual money to San Francisco. The San Francisco banks will take British money, giving United States dollars for it. The United States dollars then can be brought into Canada and exchanged for Canadian.

BERLIN EVACUATES 62,000 CHILDREN

BERLIN (AP)—Sixty-two thousand school children under 14 years of age have been transported from Berlin because of British raids and Nazi party officials said today another 30,000 are to be removed, with 42,000 children already removed from Hamburg.

The exodus represents approximately 10 per cent of the city's school population of 650,000. Although only children under 14 have been included so far, those up to 18 may go later.

insignia on her blue hat. "No, I didn't have much to do coming across—they're a healthy lot," she said as she dashed ashore for a brief look at the port.

On the dock also were four Australian women, hoping to meet some boys they knew from "back home." They were Mrs. Ralph Sherick, Mrs. Morton Peterson, Mrs. G. A. Mills and Miss Joan Mills. There were some they knew, but they shook hands with many of the boys as they trooped down the gangway.

Say Destroyer Hit

BERLIN (AP)—A Nazi spokesman tonight claimed a direct hit on a British destroyer was scored by a German plane in an attack on a convoy off the east coast of England.

Kent Tours Ulster

BELFAST (CP)—The Duke of Kent concluded a tour of inspection in Northern Ireland, it was announced today.

FACE HIS FORTUNE—John Michael of Hamilton, Ont., believes his striking resemblance to Hitler may help finance the downfall of the Nazi Fuehrer. If either of two overtures from movie corporations reach the contract stage he will contribute every cent of salary above expenses to the Red Cross. He is known as "Adolf" or "Fuehrer" in the cafe where he is associated with his brother-in-law, and patrons clamor to have him "comb his hair down."

Bombs Smash London Cars Rush Hour Travelers Become Victims

LONDON (CP)—London's heaviest anti-aircraft batteries thundered an evening challenge to Axis air raiders striking with persistence tonight on the heels of a hard day attack in which formations of 20 to 100 planes hammered at the capital.

The defence forces were kept constantly busy during the day as the raiders dealt out one of their heaviest attacks, smashing street cars and buses in busy thoroughfares and destroying shops and stores.

Scores of flame bombs fell in one area in the evening raid. The attack gained quickly in intensity. Gunfire became almost continuous.

In one district bombers dived toward their target.

Stretcher bearers raced through the streets of one populous shopping district, where sticks of high explosive bombs crashed in the third hour of the afternoon raid.

Enemy Losses 12 And Britain 8

During the day's fighting over Britain 12 German planes were destroyed, the Air Ministry announced this evening. Eight British fighters were lost, but the pilots of four of them landed safely.

For the first time this week the Germans sent over formations of fighters and fighter-bombers today instead of single raiders. The formation flew at 30,000 feet and higher and at one time two large formations were grouped together.

Air experts called attention to the fact that increased activity followed London's quietest night since the start of mass night raids and pointed out that it coincided—although it was not necessarily associated with—the apparent end of Hitler's diplomatic traveling in western Europe and with the disclosure that Italian planes had taken part in last night's attack.

The Nazi raiders stabbed twice at London in quick succession during the forenoon after a comparatively quiet night.

It was not until late afternoon that the "raider passed" signal marked the end of a lengthy attack which occasioned the third air raid alarm of the day.

Street Cars Hit During Rush Hour

In the first forenoon raid, during the morning rush hour, a bomb crashed between street cars, wrecking them and killing and injuring more than a score of persons. Other explosives hit behind the street cars, damaging a third street car.

One of the cars was crushed like a concertina and the others had windows and woodwork blown out. Broken seats were flung into the roadway.

The driver of one car was killed. The casualties included some women.

Another stick of three bombs damaged a bus, wounding the conductor.

Other high explosives struck near a police station, wrecking nearby structures and near an air-raid shelter, leaving many injured in the street.

Apartments And Stores Wrecked

Flats and shops were demolished and large buildings jarred by the blasts.

Reports came in from widely scattered areas as the attacks spread from one end of London to the other.

In one section a bomb wrecked a row of shops over which there were apartments in which some were injured. Shopkeepers joined householders and air-raid precautions workers in attending the injured. One woman tore up part of her clothing for bandages to give first aid to those needing it.

The sunlit morning sky was blotched with anti-aircraft bursts as formations of the German air craft sent the capital's defences into action.

The wail of the sirens sounding the all-clear after the first raid at the rush hour had hardly died away when another alert shrieked through the city. The second all-clear sounded not long after, but ground guns still could be heard in the outskirts.

Lone Wolf Plane Injures 5

A one-plane dive-bombing attack preceded the two alarms, coming so swiftly in a suburb that no general alarm was sounded.

The "lone wolf" was reported to have dropped six high explosive bombs, wrecking a portion of a commercial building. Five persons were reported injured.

Early risers going to work saw the plane plunge through the morning mist to a level of about 2,000 feet, unload its bombs and roar away.

While London was held under its rush-hour alert, other attacks were reported in the vicinity of a south Wales coast town, apparently in continuation of the new Nazi strategy of spreading bombs over a wide area of Britain by small groups or single plane actions.

Three Nazi planes were shot down in the early fighting and the Royal Air Force fended off numerous raiders before they could reach London. Others, taking advantage of clouds, knifed through the defence lines to drop their bomb loads.

The flow of traffic in most sections was maintained at nearly normal

The Air Ministry issued the following evening communique:

"Formations of enemy aircraft, mostly fighters, ranging in size from 20 to 100 aircraft, crossed our southeast coast at intervals today and flew at a great height in the direction of London.

"Our fighters and anti-aircraft defences have been constantly in action.

Most of Groups Broken Up

"Although most of the formations were split up and dispersed, a few succeeded in reaching the London area and bombs have been dropped at a number of widely-separated points in this area and in southeast England. Some houses were hit and a small number of people were killed and others injured."

Final Bulletins

HIGHEST FIGHTING YET OVER LONDON

LONDON (CP)—British and German airmen fought so high in the clouds today that successful Royal Air Force fliers were unable to tell whether they had destroyed their opponents.

Many of the dogfights were estimated to have aged at 30,000 feet—nearly six miles up.

"Because of the great height at which they fought," said the British Air Ministry tonight, "our fighter pilots were often unable to follow their victims down through the clouds."

Nazi Oil Ruined

LONDON (CP)—Dingle Foot, parliamentary secretary for the Ministry of Economic Warfare, said tonight "90 per cent of Germany's synthetic oil capacity has been bombed."

Besides bombing synthetic oil plants, he added, the R.A.F. had attacked more than 80 per cent of Germany's facilities for refining and treating crude petroleum.

'Americans Coming'

LONDON (AP)—Col. Charles Sweeney, head of the Royal Air Force's American Eagle Squadron, promised Frenchmen in a broadcast tonight that millions of Americans "will come after us as they did in 1918."

Col. Sweeney, former officer in the French Foreign Legion and captain of the American air squadron which fought for France in Morocco in 1925, spoke in a broadcast to France. It was sponsored by the British Broadcasting Corporation.

"We American volunteers—men of 1940, soldiers of the Foreign Legion, armmen of the Lafayette squadron—have rallied to the cause of England," he said.

"We will fight with her, for her, for ourselves and for you so that we shall be free once again after the victory. Those of us who are already here are the vanguard, as we were in 1914."

JAP SUBMARINE AND 100 MEN LOST

TOKYO (AP)—The 1,638-ton Japanese submarine I-67 was lost with all hands during manoeuvres south of Tokyo Bay August 29, the navy ministry announced today.

(A broadcast by Domei, Japanese news agency, picked up at New York, said 12 officers, 38 warrant officers and an undisclosed number of seamen went down with the I-67, which had a normal complement of about 100, according to an announcement by the Japanese navy ministry.)

(The communique said the I-67 disappeared during a heavy storm and an intensive search over a radius of 100 miles from where she was last seen had failed to "yield any hope of locating and rescuing the crew of the ill-fated warship. The search continues, however.")

The War Today

By GUY RHODES

PETAIN WATCHED

The war in the air was intensified today while the world waited to find out what developed at yesterday's meeting between the aged Premier Petain of the French Vichy regime and Adolf Hitler.

London suffered considerable damage and numerous casualties as bright weather facilitated Nazi hit-and-run bombing. More than a score of persons were killed when a stick of bombs fell across parallel street car tracks, one dropping between two cars and wrecking both.

GERMANS SUFFER

London did not suffer alone, however, for the Air Ministry announced the second night raid in succession over Berlin and the Germans themselves acknowledged a number of casualties and fires had been caused by the Royal Air Force.

Marshal Petain, wearing the horizon blue of his obsolete first Great War uniform, was reported en route home to Vichy to report to his cabinet what he got from Hitler and what France must give.

It was rumored in many continental circles that Petain agreed under extreme pressure to limited collaboration with Germany in establishment of Hitler's "new order in Europe," and possibly to permit German naval and air forces access to bases in unoccupied France and French colonial possessions.

Hitler, apparently, was seeking to impress the French with a willingness to negotiate for what he probably could take from wounded France with little or no force.

There was little sign of any Axis leadership other than Hitler's, however, and the theory was advanced that the Nazi leader might be rushing his diplomatic moves to consolidate his position on the continent in the belief that his fight with Britain would result in a stalemate.

Persons advancing this theory believed Hitler would hasten to establish control over as much of Europe as possible and gain as many concessions as possible in the hope of hanging on to them when the war ends. Their belief was strengthened by the announcement that a Russo-Axis Danubian conference will be held Monday at Bucharest. Participants will be Russia, Germany, Italy and Rumania.

German authorities, perhaps characteristically delaying in order to excite curiosity and give maximum publicity value to whatever they have to say, expressed doubt if any announcement would be made before Monday concerning the Petain-Hitler conversations.

BRITISH SINK 2 LOSE 1 WARSHIP

LONDON (CP)—The Admiralty issued the following communique tonight:

"Further examples can now be given of the continuous pressure which British naval forces maintain on the coastal communications in enemy waters. His Majesty's submarine Swordfish (Lieut. M. A. Langley, R.N.), has torpedoed and sunk a German torpedo boat off the French coast, while in the Mediterranean an Italian supply ship of 6,000 tons has been destroyed by His Majesty's submarine Regent (Lt. Cdr. H. C. Brown, R.N.)."

Another Admiralty communique said:

"The board of the Admiralty regret to announce that the destroyer Venetia (Lt. Cdr. D. L. C. Grain, R.N.), has been sunk by an enemy mine. Next of kin have been informed."

The Venetia, completed in 1917, was a craft of 1,080 tons and carried a normal complement of 134 men.

Petaim Home, But French in Dark on Talks

BERNE (AP)—Diplomatic sources here said today, a meeting between Mussolini and Marshal Petaim and another conference between Mussolini and Hitler are likely in the near future as the axis campaign to establish a "new order" for Europe develops.

Reports, reaching Berne by diplomatic channels despite the secrecy maintained by Berlin and Vichy said the Italian premier might meet the French chief of state on the border of the small Italian-occupied zone of France just as Petaim met Hitler yesterday in a border zone.

Some diplomats believed that conversations between the French Vice-Premier, Pierre Laval, and the Italian foreign minister, Count Ciano, might lay the groundwork for a Mussolini-Petaim meeting.

It also was reported that a meeting of Mussolini and Franco, leader of Spain, was a possibility, supplementing Wednesday's conference between Hitler and the Spaniard.

(In Rome today it was said separate talks between Italian and Vichy French representatives had been expected since Hitler's conference with Laval became known. The Italian press forecast further meetings between officials of the axis and other countries.)

Clarification By Petaim Awaited

VICHY, France (AP)—Marshal Philippe Petaim returned here at 7:30 p.m. (10:30 a.m. P.S.T.) from his conference with Hitler and went directly to his office in the government hotel.

He was expected to inform his return to Vichy to inform his ministers of the outcome of a meeting with Hitler upon which a government announcement said, "The situation of the nation and its future in large measure depend."

Official silence cloaked the nature of the negotiations which took place in a railway car somewhere in German-occupied France yesterday, but the public guessed from Petaim's unprecedented action that major changes in France's position were brewing. Hidden also were the results of Hitler's conference Wednesday on the French-Spanish frontier with Spain's Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

'Co-operation' On Limited Scale

(Informed quarters in neutral Switzerland expressed strong belief that the French spokesmen had agreed to limited co-operation with Germany in the war against Britain in return for easing of the Nazi yoke.)

So fast have events moved already that observers here believed an announcement of France's new place in the European order being planned by the Axis powers would be forthcoming quickly.

Informed sources, however, said that while Petaim had authority to make an agreement with Hitler it was likely he would explain the situation to his cabinet before making a definite commitment.

Putting Europe 'On Her Legs'

By LOUIS F. LOCHNER

BERLIN (AP)—Authorized German sources said today the meeting between Hitler and Marshal Petaim of France is "new evidence that we are trying to put Europe back on her legs under Axis leadership and independent of exterior influences which have been trying to stick their noses into affairs which don't concern them."

Asked to define these "ram-fremde" influences (those not indigenous to the European living space), the same sources said: "For the present it is England." The Foreign Office was silent on details of the Hitler-Petaim conference, or even the subjects discussed by the two chiefs of state.

Spokesmen said it was unlikely any light would be shed on the situation during the course of the day, but indicated more concrete information might be forthcoming next Monday.

See Nightmare Of Interference

Continuing their observations on general Axis aims, present diplomacy and strategy, authorized sources said:

"Our fight is against whoever opposes European peace, harmony and co-operation... the nightmare of interference will be dispelled."

"The Axis powers are fully conscious of the responsibility they assume toward all European peoples. In the 'Europe of the future' the question of who was a friend or enemy yesterday won't play any role. The sole determining factor will be the whole-heartedness wherewith every state in that new order co-operates."

"No humiliation of anybody within this order is intended."

U.S. Watching Petaim Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—France's late- and hourly-expected developments which might have a vital effect on United States interests—were under close State Department study today following the conference "somewhere in occupied France" between Hitler and Marshal Petaim, chief of the Vichy regime.

Sumner Welles, under-secretary of state, and Gaston Henry-Haye, French ambassador, conferred at the State Department last night after swift diplomatic moves abroad indicated a major decision "concerning Europe's future" might hang in the balance.

In informed quarters it was understood Welles and the envoy had engaged in a general discussion of problems which might arise as a result of closer collaboration between Germany and conquered France.

The Hitler-Petaim conference assumed additional significance in American officials' eyes in view of the similar secret meeting between Hitler and Franco of Spain, another possible active Axis collaborator or ally.

Officials here were particularly intent on any factual developments resulting from the Hitler-Petaim meeting which would have an effect on specific American interests. For example:

1. Any new disposition of the French fleet which, if turned over to Germany—a possibility mentioned in several reports from European capitals—might become an actual or potential menace to American security. The United States has been vitally interested in what was to become of France's navy and this question is understood to have been discussed with the Petaim government and its representatives on a number of occasions.

2. Any change in the status of France's colonies, especially the possessions in the western hemisphere.

A 14-nation committee was established yesterday which, under authority of the Havana Pan-American Conference, has emergency powers to assume control of any European possessions in the western hemisphere.

Mr. Purcell as press officer of the 1st Canadian Division, reported that force's voyage across the Atlantic and its first weeks of training in England.

Blow Two Safes

NANAIMO (CP)—Thieves escaped with about $85 in cash after blowing safes in the offices of Brachman Her Milling Company and Pacific Meat Company here early today.

OTTAWA (CP)—Awarding of work was continued, totaling more than $1,000,000 was announced today by the munitions and supply department. They included: Camp, Nanaimo, B.C., 600, wood construction, shipyard, Northern Construction Co. and J. W. Stewart, Vancouver.

B.C. Officers Named To Important Posts

OTTAWA (CP)—More officers from overseas are being recalled to assume senior posts in the 3rd Division, according to a series of announcements from the Department of National Defence today. Three Vancouver officers are affected.

The 3rd Division, under command of Maj. Gen. E. W. Sanson, has been assigned to the defence of Canada's eastern coasts under the Atlantic army command.

Previous appointments, including that of the commanding officer, brought men with overseas experience either in the 1st Division or at Canadian military headquarters in London to the 3rd Division.

Today's appointments indicate a continuation of the policy of staffing Canada's home defence forces with officers who have seen and taken part in the preparations for the defence of Britain against anticipated German invasion.

Lieut.-Col. L. H. Leeson of Vancouver is promoted to colonial and made assistant director of medical services, and Maj. S. G. U. Shier of Ottawa becomes deputy assistant director of medical services. Col. Leeson has been overseas and Maj. Shier has been at national defence headquarters.

Command of the 3rd Division Engineers goes to Lieut.-Col. G. H. Whyte of Vancouver, with Capt. C. E. Brown of Halifax as adjutant.

NEW BRIGADE MAJOR

Maj. H. F. Cotton of Vancouver becomes brigade major of the 7th Infantry Brigade under the command of Brig. W. G. Colquhoun of Winnipeg, one of two battalion commanders from the 1st Division previously appointed to command brigades in the 3rd Division. Capt. J. W. Proctor of Edmonton, recalled from the 2nd Infantry Brigade overseas, will be staff captain.

Lieut.-Col. C. Foulkes of London, Ont., is promoted, from the rank of major and recalled from an appointment with the 3rd Infantry Brigade overseas to become general staff officer (first grade) with the 3rd Division.

General staff officer (second class) (operations) in the division is Maj. W. J. McGill of Ottawa, recently general staff officer at national defence headquarters.

Another transfer from the 3rd Infantry Brigade overseas is Capt. A. M. Fordyce of West-mount, Que., who will be general staff officer (third grade) (operations).

Capt. G. H. Gillespie of London, Ont., is appointed general staff officer (third grade) (intelligence) and transferred to the post of adjutant with the 21st Army Field Regiment, R.C.A.

Capt. W. J. Gibson of Winnipeg is transferred from the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry to become general staff officer (third grade) (gas).

An overseas officer, Major H. V. Loring of Ottawa, has been chosen for the post of assistant adjutant and quartermaster-general of the 3rd Division. He receives the rank of lieutenant-colonel and was formerly deputy assistant adjutant-general with the 1st Division.

TORONTO MAN PROMOTED

Major H. F. Seymour of Montreal becomes deputy assistant adjutant-general of the 3rd Division on transfer from the 4th Field Company, R.C.E., with the 1st Division. The deputy assistant quartermaster-general is Major T. Mackie of Toronto, promoted from captain and seconded from the post of staff captain, 1st Infantry Brigade headquarters in England.

Lt.-Col. D. R. Agnew of Winnipeg is promoted from the rank of major with appointment to command the 14th Field Regiment and Capt. C. R. Ostrum of Winnipeg becomes adjutant.

Lt.-Col. V. A. Curmi of Quebec is appointed assistant director of ordnance services and Capt. T. Smith of Winnipeg, deputy assistant provost marshal.

Major O. Eadie of London, Ont., is appointed intelligence officer (first class) with the rank of captain and Capt. L. J. Flynn of Kingston, Ont., cipher officer (first class).

In 3rd Division artillery under the command of Brig. H. O. N. Brownfield of Saint John, N.E., Capt. W. S. Zeigler of Edmonton, is made brigade major and Capt. C. M. Drury of Montreal, staff captain.

Lt.-Col. G. T. Inch of Hamilton, Ont., is appointed to command the 12th Field Regiment, R.C.A., and his adjutant will be Capt. J. D. Young of Hamilton. Command of the 13th Field Regiment goes to Lt.-Col. G. S. Howard of Shaunavon, Sask., with Capt. L. W. H. Randall of Calgary as adjutant.

CAROL ASKS AID OF ROOSEVELT

WASHINGTON (AP)—The exiled former King Carol of Rumania appealed to the United

EX-RUMANIAN KING

States government today to intercede in behalf of himself and members of his party now held under detention at Seville, Spain.

Carol's request was transmitted to the State Department by the U.S. legation in Lisbon.

MME. LUPESCU

Portugal, after Jean Pangal, former Rumanian minister to Portugal, had asked the legation to forward the appeal to President Roosevelt.

State Department officials had no immediate comment to make on the request, or on what action, if any, the U.S. government might take.

Carol, his friend, Mme. Magda Lupescu, and Ernst Urdareanu, former minister of the palace in Bucharest, were placed under virtual arrest Tuesday and are under guard at their hotel in Seville.

500 U.S. Planes Monthly to Britain

LONDON (CP)—"We can hope from now onwards," said Air Marshal Sir Philip Joubert in a broadcast, "steadily to increase our pressure on Germany and her ally and by next spring, when the flow of American aircraft, already very considerable, becomes a flood we shall return to Germany, with sevenfold interest the bombing we have had to endure."

He said that besides faster and better armed, as well as better climbing and higher flying fighters, there will be new British bombers "equally as good."

(The British Broadcasting Corporation announced last night, in a broadcast picked up at New York by the National Broadcasting Company, that "the United States is sending warplanes to Britain now at the rate of nearly 500 a month; this number is still growing and is over five times as many as were sent four months ago.")

Boulder Hits U.S. Yangtze Craft

CHUNGKING (AP)—The Canadian Mission was badly shaken and the United States embassy in this provisional Chinese capital narrowly escaped destruction today when three groups of Japanese planes dropped about 10 bombs around the embassy compound on the south bank of the Yangtze River.

Another bomb dislodged a boulder which rolled down the embankment and struck the U.S. gunboat Tutulla. The damage was very slight, however. The British river steamer Wanhien was punctured by pieces of bomb which fell during the raid at noon time. The steamer was anchored at the south bank of the river. About 75 casualties were caused when some junks were smashed, but casualties ashore were low.

Sugar Factory Hit

AMSTERDAM (via Berlin) (AP)—British air raiders attacked a number of places in German-occupied Holland early today, it was announced officially.

A hit on a sugar factory 10 miles south of Rotterdam burned out part of the plant, it was announced.

Other hits were scored at Flushing, and at Den Helder, a former Netherlands naval base.

APPLE CROP CUT

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP)—Orders are being for more than 100 cars of Okanagan apples, according to Dave McNair, sales manager of the B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., the valley's selling agency.

McNair said eastern Canada is still buying despite the quantity of Ontario and Quebec apples on hand there.

A re-estimate of the McIntosh Red crop reveals a shrinkage of some 425,000 boxes from original estimates, due to the smaller size than anticipated and excessive worm damage in the area from Kelowna north.

RUSSIA ITALY AT DANUBE TALKS

ROME (AP)—Usually reliable sources said today Italy probably would be represented at a Danubian conference next Monday to which Germany, Soviet Russia and Rumania also were expected to send delegates.

(A Reuters news agency dispatch from Moscow earlier reported that Russia had named delegates to such a conference to be held in Bucharest.)

TRAFFIC DISCUSSION

BUCHAREST (AP)—Soviet, Russian, German and Italian delegates arrived here today for a meeting of an international commission named to regulate traffic on the lower reaches of the Danube River.

The commission, created recently in Vienna, at first did not include Russia, but Moscow protested and insisted on representation since the Soviet frontier has been pushed to the banks of the Danube by the acquisition of Bessarabia from Rumania last summer.

Navigation and technical experts accompanied the delegates, who will meet with Rumanian commissioners.

It was the first time that Great Britain and France, members of the former international commission, were not represented at a Danubian conference.

No Early Pact Japan and Russia

TOKYO (AP)—Yakichiro Suma, spokesman for the Japanese foreign office, said Japan's new ambassador to Russia, Yosihitsugu Tatekawa, is due to present his credentials at the Kremlin Saturday, but that it was "much too premature" to say a Japanese-Russian pact is expected.

The Japanese newspaper Nichi Nichi carried under a London dateline a forecast saying a pact would be concluded quickly to free both Japan and Russia to implement their respective southward aims.

Most such reports heard in Tokyo, however, were via the German radio.

Meanwhile, the newspaper Asahi reported the first border incident in several months, stating a small detachment of Soviet troops had crossed Manchoukuo's eastern border, scouting Japanese positions and withdrawn without a clash.

Canada's Durum Crop Excellent

WINNIPEG (CP)—The macaroni-making quality of the 1940 crop of western Canadian durum wheat is excellent, according to a statement issued by the Board of Grain Commissioners' laboratory.

Production is estimated at 11,000,000 bushels, approximately the same amount as last year.

Of that amount Saskatchewan produced 4,000,000 bushels, an increase of 80 per cent over last year. Manitoba grew 7,000,000 bushels, a decrease of 22 per cent.

Of the cars inspected from August 1 to October 7, 6 per cent graded 1 c.w., 75 per cent graded 2 c.w., and 14 per cent graded 3 c.w. Tough wheat represented 0.2 per cent of the inspections and there was no damp wheat.

Weights per bushel and per 1,000 kernels were slightly higher than last year. Protein content was slightly higher and macaroni color was good.

Founded

Berlin Bombed For 23rd Time

LONDON (CP)—Britain's fiercest sustained air offensive blasted at the foundations of German war power last night with squadrons after squadrons of heavy bombers delivering destruction not only in Berlin and Hamburg but in a dozen other vital centres as well.

The Air Ministry news service said the British fliers, in an attack on Berlin which lasted nearly three hours, came down low to make sure of their targets and smashed the Pullitz-strasse and Lehrter railway stations for the second night in succession in this, the 23rd raid on Berlin.

(The number of killed in Berlin and Hamburg was "extremely high," said a German broadcast heard in New York.)

The German capital was completely overcast with clouds extending from 12,000 to 4,000 feet and this forced the R.A.F. bombers to come down to a "considerably lower level" than in most of their raids on Berlin.

Second Group Hits Rail Yards

The first wave of raiders reached Berlin just after midnight and attacked the railway yards with salvos of high explosive bombs which added to the "extensive damage" inflicted the previous night, the news service said.

A second wave of bombers then hit the same targets half an hour later.

Still others started a "huge fire" on another military objective and guided succeeding waves which crossed and recrossed the city for an hour and a quarter despite fiercely blazing German guns.

Gaps in the cloud bank later made it possible for the bombers to attack from a higher level, "somewhat easing" the menace of the gunfire, the news service said.

"Poor visibility" in all areas hampered detailed observation of the damage done, it added.

The ministry said oil plants, docks, shipping facilities, rail communications, goods yards, power stations and German air-dromes were raided in other parts of Germany and German-occupied territory.

A communique announced docks and shipping, oil plants and a power station were hit at Hamburg, indicating that important port was a major objective in the night's raiding.

Oil Plants Bombed At Many Points

An Air Ministry communique said:

"Yesterday (Thursday) R.A.F. bombers carried out armed reconnaissance of the French, Belgian and Dutch coasts. The ports of Ostend and Gravelines, a factory and goods yards near Calais and a convoy off Zeebrugge were attacked.

"During the night aircraft of the bomber and coastal commands carried out widespread operations over Germany and enemy occupied territory. Objectives in the Berlin area were bombed.

"Oil plants at Hamburg, Hanover and Gelsenkirchen, docks and shipping at Hamburg, Cuxhaven, Wilhelmshaven, Rotterdam, Le Havre and Lorient, railway communications and goods yards at Emmerich, Munster, Hamm, Bottrop and Duisburg, a power station at Hamburg, the Channel ports of Flushing, Ostend and Dunkirk, and several enemy air-dromes were attacked by strong forces of aircraft which operated throughout the hours of darkness.

"One of our aircraft has not reported to its base."

Berlin, Hamburg Suffer Casualties

BERLIN (AP)—The German high command's communique today said:

"At night the enemy entered western and northern Germany. Bomb attacks were chiefly concentrated on Hamburg, causing fires and other property damage in the harbor and some sections of the city.

"Protected by an overcast sky, the enemy advanced toward the Reich's capital with small forces. Scattered bombs caused added fires, light damage to houses and a bigger fire in a lumberyard. There were a number of dead and injured in Berlin and Hamburg.

"Five enemy planes were downed. No German or Italian planes are missing."

(No British planes were lost in defensive operations yesterday. Two German planes were destroyed.)

Night Raids on London Light

Midland Town Fights Bomb Fires

LONDON (CP)—Aerial assaults on London slackened considerably during last night, but squadrons of Nazi bombers blasted at the industrial Midlands furiously.

Two public air raid shelters were hit in one town in that area, but the loss of life was reported to be small.

The capital had two raid alarms during the night, the 48th since the total air warfare began. The respite between the two was brief, but the second ended comparatively early—about 4.30 a.m.

In an unidentified Midlands town, the same one in which the shelters were struck, a motion picture house and a theatre were hit and a fire bomb fell on a drug store. Other commercial and business properties also were reported damaged.

Although reports early in the night said the raiders were coming over in greater numbers than in the past several nights, the government said "there was comparatively little enemy activity over the country last night."

"In one Midlands town," the communique continued, "fires were caused which damaged commercial property and public buildings. A number of persons were injured but reports indicate that few were killed."

"Elsewhere some bombs were dropped mainly in various parts of southwest England but they did little damage. Throughout the country the number of persons killed and injured was exceedingly small."

A number of persons were caught in debris in London and rescue squads labored to free them.

A.P. Chief Saves Woman in London

K. C. Bosall, Associated Press traffic chief at the London bureau, reported he had to hurt a woman downstairs into an air raid shelter to save her and his self when he heard bombs falling while he was cycling to work.

"I heard the rush of bombs and dived for the shelter," he said.

"The woman was blocking the entrance calling to her dog. I literally had to throw her down into the shelter. We just made it."

"The entrance to the shelter was splattered with broken glass and debris. A building beside the shelter was a shambles, with injured lying all over the street."

The London Transport Board announced a new system to facilitate travel during raids. In the future buses and street cars will carry on during raids with road spotters at 123 vital points to keep watch and notify the drivers and passengers when to take cover.

Air Marshal Explains Ack-Ack Tactics

Air Marshal Sir Philip Joubert, taking official note of gossip that British anti-aircraft guns were wearing out and that ammunition was running short, said last night these reports were untrue, and that the system of barrage fire had been abandoned when the raiders began their dodging tactics.

"If the enemy can be lured into a sense of false security so that he will fly straight for a short time, a salvo from several guns has a good chance of bursting near him," Sir Philip said in a broadcast. "Hence the pauses in firing—we are waiting the opportunity to get in a good burst. I can assure you the situation is quite normal."

Nazi Say Raids Made By Italians

BERLIN (AP)—The German high command asserted today that Italian planes for the first time had joined German raiders in operations against Britain.

The high command's communique said:

"Combat planes yesterday attacked the British capital at short intervals and effectively bombed several ports, industrial plants and traffic facilities in south England. At night, attacks were concentrated on London, where again conflagrations and explosions were visible evidence of our success.

"Night raids furthermore included armament centres and harbor regions. Mining of British ports continued.

"Italian fighting units for the first time started from their bases in occupied territory in the framework of the German air force's fighting operations against England. Through audacious attacks and well aimed bombs these scored great successes against port facilities in the east of the British Isles."

Germans Admit Heavy Losses

ROME (AP)—The newspaper Il Giornale d'Italia reported today that an Italian air base has been established on the English Channel in France and that Italian bombers have come back with "marks of combat" from forays on London.

The Italian airmen returned "with joyous certainty of their first victory," the paper's correspondent wrote from "an Italian air base on the English Channel."

The Fascist bombs, marked "Made in Italy," exploded in London streets "to the Churchill crowds' desperate stupor," the correspondent declared.

He described the Fascist forces as "a tremendous mass of men and material," commanded by Gen. Rino Corso Fougier, of Corsican origin and an Italian flier in the Spanish civil war.

Italians said Mussolini had offered his air force and the Germans, who have suffered heavy losses, accepted eagerly.

Equipment and supplies were said to have been shipped by rail to the Channel base, while the pilots flew their planes.

The Italian air corps on the Channel was described as a complete unit with its own ground crews, repair shops and munitions depots.

Canada Recognizes Benes Government

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian government has extended formal recognition to the Czechoslovakian government in exile.

Officials of the external affairs department said the government had refused to recognize the occupation of Czechoslovakia by Germany in the spring of 1939. Now that a provisional Czechoslovakian government has been set up in London, recognized by the United Kingdom government, Canada also had extended formal recognition to this exiled administration.

Ever since the German occupation of Czechoslovakia, Canada has accorded full rights to the Czechoslovak consul-general at Montreal, Dr. F. Pavlack.

A provisional Czechoslovak committee was set up in London some time ago, but decision to extend recognition to the London group was not reached until the United Kingdom recognized the provisional, more formally organized government recently set up in the empire capital under Dr. Edvard Benes.

Not Inserted Yet

DATES HAVE PLAYED AN IMPORTANT part in the totalitarian program of conquest. Hitler kept several of them with meticulous regard for his promise. Then he ran up against a Britain on her own among the European nations. He missed the August 15 and September 15 buses—and he has not yet caught another. But we mention dates at this juncture merely for a progress report. It is October 25. A month ago, on Wednesday, September 25, to be precise, we noted in these columns what Italy's Foreign Minister, Count Galeazzo Ciano, caused to be written on that day in his own Il Popolo di Roma. It is worth repeating to see how it matches the same newspaper's observations on this October 25—a month after.

September 25: "Italy welcomes with happiness the truly historic decision of Spain and El Caudillo (Generalissimo Francisco Franco) and her solidarity in the war against her historic enemy (Britain). Nobody can be surprised if Franco's Spain, born within the orbit and by the spiritual and armed solidarity of Italy and Germany, is inserting herself in the axis system. She is closing the circle isolating England from Europe and is regaining her active Mediterranean and African function to which history and geography call her."

October 25: Il Popolo di Roma says Hitler's conferences with Vice-Premier Laval and Marshal Petain of France and Franco of Spain are parts of "a series of important meetings which, according to every indication, is not yet completed." Il Piccolo, another semi-official organ, says today that "according to all probabilities the chain of these meetings does not yet seem closed."

It is not necessary to recapitulate the interim dolings of the brave Italian navy, the magnificent achievements of the army of Marshal Rodolfo Graziani in the northern African desert, or to repeat Italy's carving of the British Empire and presentation of parts of it—including Canada—to the United States. It is interesting to note, however, that Mussolini seems just as perplexed as his "boss" at Berlin. And for the time being the axis powers, especially the juvenile member, evidently are not experiencing any more happiness over Franco's decision, or lack of it, than they were a month ago.

Mr. Kennedy's Good Work

LONDON'S NEWSPAPERS SEEM TO agree enthusiastically that United States Ambassador Joseph B. Kennedy has rendered "invaluable services" to the cause of British-American friendship during his term of office as his country's representative at the Court of St. James's. He has at all times been commendably frank, tactful, essentially cordial in all his relationships. And if he has definitely decided not to return to his post after the holiday on which he has just set out, he will have the satisfaction of knowing that he has interpreted popular and official sentiment between the two parts of the English-speaking democratic Commonwealth in a manner which bears witness to his personal charm and diplomatic judgment.

One commentator tenders a special tribute to Mr. Kennedy for his contribution to the formation of an understanding between Britain and the United States which has converted them into "allies forever in deeds if not in written words." And it may be suggested that if some of the Ambassador's speeches to his own people while at home on leave have not dripped with the milk and honey of fulsome flattery—he was not immune from the criticisms of confirmed and incipient isolationists—it is common knowledge that the realism which he brought to bear on his task in London found an outlet in his pressure on Washington for more and more practical aid for the British cause. We in Canada, therefore, can add our tribute to that of the British press and applaud Mr. Kennedy's friendly co-operation at the Empire's capital.

'Token War' at Last?

CORSICA HAS SENT ANOTHER MAN TO the English Channel to direct a new attack on "perfidious Albion." He is General Rino Corso Fougier, commander of an Italian air corps consisting of "a tremendous mass of men and material," whose job, presumably, is to wage Mussolini's "token war" against Britain. And Virginia Gayda's Il Giornale d'Italia's correspondent "on the Channel" reports that Fascist flying men have returned from London "with joyful certainty of their first victory," relating that bombs marked "Made in Italy" exploded in the streets of the metropolis "to the Churchill crowd's desperate stupor." (Just what is desperate stupor, by the way?)

Incidentally, Mussolini offered his air force, says his journalistic mouthpiece's newspaper, "and the Germans, who have suffered heavy losses, accepted eagerly." Apart from the fact that the Herr Doktor Goebbels may consider the publication of such news by Il Giornale d'Italia at altogether tedious—how dare it be suggested by the brave and self-confident Italian that the Germans have not reversed?—it can be said that the "hit-and-run" tactics now employed by Nazi airmen over Britain ought to suit Mussolini's battens down to the ground.

France and Syria

UNTIL THE WORLD LEARNS PRE-cisely what the Petain government intends to do in connection with the demands of the Italian Armistice Commission the fate of Syria, the disposition of French armed forces there, will be dependent to a very large extent upon the speed with which events move as a result of Hitler's negotiations with Spain's Generalissimo Franco Franco and the men of Vichy.

Under the armistice conditions, it may be remembered, all French land, sea, and air units were to be demobilized and disarmed, with the exception of such troops as might be necessary, in the opinion of the Axis armistice commissions, for maintaining order, and arms and war material not expressly authorized for the use of these police units were to be stored under German or Italian control. All airports, together with their equipment, were similarly to be placed at the enemy's disposal. Wireless communication was also mentioned in the Franco-Italian armistice agreement.

The Italian commission, apparently, riding roughshod over the protests of the local authorities, has demanded all these things and, in addition, disbandment of the Foreign Legion, repatriation to France of all officers deemed to be hostile to Germany and Italy, facilities for use of the surrendered air bases against Britain, and acceptance of control by the Commission over administration, taxation, censorship, and internal order, on the one hand, and, on the other, all services of supply, production, and trade. Finally, the Italians propose to forbid entry into Syria and Lebanon of all newspapers published in Arab countries and listening to any radio stations except those under German or Italian control.

There seems to be no warrant for these latter stipulations, but they are in keeping with the merciless intentions of Rome. Any of the men of Vichy who were putting their faith in France's "Latin sister" must by now be utterly disillusioned. The Italians are decidedly unpopular with all sections of the population in Syria, as in the Arab world generally, and there are indications they will not have it all their own way. Turkey is watching events very closely in the territory which was hers until mandated to France after the first Great War—and the French administrative record has not been of the best.

Another Cromwell Touch

JUST AS BOTH PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT and Mr. Wendell Willkie had assured the people of the United States for the umpteenth time that neither would permit American soldiers to cross the seas to take part in foreign wars—always providing, of course, no overt act intervened to change the circumstances—Colonel Charles Sweeney, head of the R.A.F.'s American Eagle Squadron, promised Frenchmen in a broadcast today that millions of Americans "will come after us as they did in 1918."

As propaganda while the Hitler-Laval negotiations are still a tight secret in Vichy and Berlin, it may cheer millions of Frenchmen. As an utterance which may or may not toss sky-high the "foreign war" argument in the election campaign in the United States, it would seem to fall into the category of political nitro-glycerine. As a case for severe reprimand by Washington—without any means of providing an effective sparking for the gallant Colonel for the time being—it will be like manna from heaven to the implacable isolationist. Remember what former U.S. Minister Cromwell said in Canada earlier this year?

IMPLEMENTING THE SIROIS REPORT

From Financial Post
It becomes daily more apparent that this nation cannot much longer postpone implementation of the Rowell-Sirois report on Dominion-Provincial Relations.

Last week at a press conference, Prime Minister King made brief reference to the report. He denied that it had been shelved, but made it apparent that the government had no present intention of dealing decisively and positively with this momentous document.

Yet more and more Canadians are coming to the view expressed by Harold Crabtree, president of the Canadian Manufacturers Association a few days ago, namely that increasing pressure of war problems accelerates the need for a new Dominion-provincial deal.

One further significant fact is the wide and diversified support given this report by nearly a score of official bodies representing widely varied opinions and interests.

What really matters is, of course, the effect of such recommendations on the war effort.

Can we more economically, efficiently and quickly win the war if the report is implemented?

Will it aid our unity, our solvency, our productive machinery?
Taking the longer view we must also be sure that a plan which runs second only to Confederation itself in importance and implementation, will help rather than hinder in the postwar economy.

ON TOUR WITH WILLKIE

DEMOCRACY'S FESTIVAL

THIS PRESIDENTIAL election campaign is the great folk festival of the American people, the counterpart of similar strange tribal customs in ancient lands; and for the candidate almost a human sacrifice. And when the train rolls in and stops at any town, you can see surging up, as at no other time, the curious emotional content of these people, the deep friendliness, the essential democracy which made this nation great and now stands on the eve of its supreme test.

The station platform is roped off, guarded by police, only the prominent local Republicans admitted, with their palpitating ladies. They are all in their best clothes, all wearing Willkie buttons and fairly bursting with pride. Radio men rush about, fixing wires and serials. A messenger comes staggering up the platform with a 50-pound basket of fruit and candy for Mrs. Willkie. A band is playing a Sousa waltz and an announcer is belting out of loudspeakers that Mr. Willkie is about to get off the train.

He gets off, all his charm turned on, and he knows how to do it now as well as Mr. Roosevelt. He raises one hand, then the other, grinning. Everybody cheers, and cheers again when his modest little wife steps down beside him.

PARADE

The local Republicans prep forward to shake the leader's hand but most of them never reach him, as he is borne along, a towering figure, to an open automobile. Then the inevitable parade up the main street behind the band, the local Republicans each wearing in his hat a large card, assuring the crowd that "Willkie Will Win."

The local theatre is packed as Mr. Willkie enters, walking down the aisle with his hands raised, his teeth bared in his boyish grin, as if he hadn't made three other speeches that day, as if he hadn't been up most of the night, as if he had been waiting all his life to see this town.

He strides out upon the stage, while the audience stands and shrieks with delight. He shakes the hands of the nameless citizens on the stage and then sits down so that the audience can see him while the local chairman introduces him in the familiar unvarying phrase as the future president of the United States.

Unfortunately, the radio has been hired for 12.30 and Mr. Willkie is three minutes too early. He must sit and wait, while the theatre organ plays. He sits, legs crossed, head sunk on his chest, eyeing the democracy of America with a kind of Olympian calm and the democracy eyes him, rather breathlessly. It is Willkie, in the flesh, a personal appearance, the man himself.

FOLKS

And you can feel, sitting among these people, how much more the man means in their system than in ours; how all government, all progress, the whole future of the nation seems to hang on this individual, as if he controlled events, as if he could bring prosperity, as if he could prevent war—a sublime faith such as we never achieve, a warm, personal, neighborly touch as we never quite feel. ("Gosh, he doesn't look anything like his pitchers!" "His wife's real cute!" "Give it to him, Wendell!" "What a guy!")

At last the hired radio chain is ready. Mr. Willkie stands up, a giant of a man, radiating confidence and geniality, wearing his boyish grin and a I'm-just-one-of-you-folks look. He grasps the high desk in front of him and half leans on it, in a peculiarly intimate fashion which instantly makes you feel that he has come into your living-room and is talking to you personally, as a friend of the family. As he waits for the applause to die down, he screws his face into a thoughtful, melancholy expression, almost a look of prayer. You feel he is drawing inspiration out of the air—out of the democracy around him.

This man has learned to act. He is as good an actor as Roosevelt, though entirely different, Roosevelt is the old tragedian of the classical school cast in Shakespearean roles. This is the dashing Clark Gable of politics. Roosevelt succeeds because men see here a man superior to them. Willkie succeeds because men see here one of themselves.

Willkie knows how to capitalize this public instinct about him. He speaks these folks' language, slurs his words where they slur them, almost out-Willkies Willkie, but manages somehow to look like the very essence of plain, clean, wholesome American living. It is a calculated role he plays, offering a studied contrast to the patrician president and it succeeds. "Yes," his enemies say, "and the log cabin in which he was born is even now under construction."

MAN'S ROAD UP

Every step of progress the world has made has been from scaffold to scaffold and from stake to stake.—Wendell Phillips.

We never went as far as the totalitarians in declaring the profit motive a form of treason. The worst we can say for it is it is a mirage.

A bakery chain reports 10 per cent of the clientele still calling for unalloyed bread. No race is lost in which such rugged individualism persists.

Paradoxical Thoughts

Prayer is the Lord. O give thanks unto the Lord; for He is good: for His mercy endureth forever.—Psalm 104.

Among the attributes of God, although they are all equal, mercy shines with even more brilliancy than justice.—Cervantes.

Elmore Philpott

INDEFENSIBLE

Here in British Columbia the whole question of war metals has recently been much to the fore. Shipments of copper, lead and zinc, as well as scrap iron, have now been cut off from Japan. Yet they were not cut off until public opinion hereabouts reached the point of threatened explosion.

Figures before me indicate that in the second year of the second world war, when the British Commonwealth was fighting for its very existence, the mines of British Columbia supplied almost the same amount of base metals to Britain on the one hand and to Japan on the other.

Another matter that is much to the fore in some parts of Canada is the government's attitude toward open or possible friends of our avowed enemies.

There are reports that one young man, sentenced to three months' detention for his enthusiastic and undisciplined activities on behalf of Hitler and our enemy, Germany—who actually boarded a ship and attempted to get back to Germany in the second year of war—that this young man has not been interned but is again at liberty in Canada.

A moment's reflection should convince anyone that to permit freedom to such people, during the actual war, is indefensible. If they are kept under any kind of surveillance such process requires the full time of one or more R.C.M.P.s. If they are not kept under surveillance the least damage they are likely to do is to spread subversive propaganda; the opportunities for sabotage are obvious.

INTERMENT HUMANE

Internment in Canada is not harsh. The accommodation for the prisoners is, in the ordinary run of cases, quite as good as that provided for the men in military camps. When I say "military camps," I am referring to properly prepared places, and not to such as that in Nova Scotia which the Canadian Scottish found "incomplete," to say the least.

Obviously, the general and most justified criticism of most internment camps is that they are conducted more like convalescent hospitals than detention places for dangerous alien enemies, or native sympathizers or agents of our enemy.

Not long ago the country learned with some surprise that a party of interned Catholic priests, sent to Canada from Britain because they were considered dangerous enemies, had taken a couple of days' holiday, and gone to one of the famous Quebec shrines for the week-end. It was officially admitted at Ottawa that no one in authority there had given permission for any such outing. The public is still waiting to hear, therefore, what authority gave instructions for the trip; and exactly who is running the internment camps, anyway, when inmates can walk out almost any time they feel like having a change.

ROYAL YORK HARDSHIPS

The most astounding report that I have heard about the "internment" camps came from Alberta. "People whose evidence seemed convincing to me declared that Mr. Francheschini, the millionaire Toronto contractor, had spent a considerable portion of his 'internment' in a suite at the Royal York Hotel, Toronto.

It may be that Mr. Francheschini has turned over a new leaf, and is no longer the enthusiastic supporter and organizer for Mussolini that he was when he was reported to have given the Duke a cool $1,000,000 of his Canadian profits. It is true that Mr. Francheschini had huge war contracts when he was interned, and that the custodian of enemy property, who took them over found trips to the Royal York easier than trips to northern Canada.

But it seems to me that if an enemy sympathizer has to be confined, for the safety of the Empire, the most sumptuous hotel in the Empire is hardly the place for the ordeal.

ENOUGH BOOKS

To the Editor:—Recently there have been letters from private individuals in your paper asking for donations of books, magazines, etc., for the men of the Three Services in camps in this area.

We have a library committee whose work is to provide all units in this area with books and, at the moment, they have a sufficient supply for all requirements. In the drive two weeks ago, the L.O.D.E. collected over 2,200 books for our use. By having the distribution of books, etc., centralized all overlapping is avoided.

Apparently the writers of these letters are unaware of the activities of Auxiliary Services.

The speaker of the evening, Dr.

children are well and strong.

vote of thanks to Dr. Amyot, who was appointed honorary president on motion of E. F. LeQuenne, re-

Guides Appeal for Toothpaste Tubes

Saturday is National Guide Day when all the Guides and Brownies of Canada unite together to undertake some special service of practical value to the community. This year, the chief commissioner, Mrs. H. D. Warren, has asked that wartime service be stressed, so with the approval of the Red Cross Superfluities
Shop the Guides and Brownies will undertake a house to house collection of old tooth paste tubes and medicinal tubes.

Companies and packs carrying out this work in their own localities will be most grateful if householders will let them know if they have such tubes for collection. Every tube will count, as the metal sells for 25¢ per pound. It is also hoped to place collecting boxes in stores for future contributions of this worthwhile salvage.

PRINCESS ALICE

The day will close with a coast to coast broadcast over the CBR network from 9 to 9.30 p.m., E.S.T., when the speaker will be
H.R.H. Princess Alice, Countess of Athlone, who is honorary president of the Canadian Girl
Guides. Until coming to Canada,
Princess Alice took a very active part in the movement in England, where she was commissioner for the overseas branch of the Girl
Guides and in close touch with Guides in every part of the Empire.

1ST VICTORIA EAST

The 1st Victoria East Guide
Company will have a scavenger hunt for empty tooth paste tubes and medicinal tubes, linen and old sheets (white) between these boundaries: Cook to Hillside and Lansdowne to Richmond, along
Richmond to Haultain and back to Cook. This will be held tomorrow morning and afternoon.

The Guides would be grateful if people would leave any of the above on their front doorsteps.
It is hoped that the citizens in these boundaries will respond to this call.

The Guides are also having a church parade at St. Alban's on the corner of Ryan and Belmont.

Recruits for the Oaklands company are needed from the ages 11 to 15. The meetings are held on Fridays from 6 to 8 p.m. at St.
Alban's Hall, corner of Ryan and Belmont.

Church Girls' Leader Here Tomorrow

Miss Betty Ross, National Girls' Work secretary of the United Church of Canada, who since attending the general council held in Winnipeg in September, has continued her tour westward, will arrive in Victoria on Saturday.

Her program starts Saturday evening at 7.30, when she will meet with all girls' leaders and members of mission circles and W.M.S. auxiliaries in the school room of the Metropolitan United Church.

Sunday morning at 11.15 Miss Ross will speak at the service of public worship in Wilkinson Road United Church. In the evening at 7.30 she will address a rally

Letter From England

No Money Shortage In England, Says Priest

OTTAWA — "We have the blighters licked, there is no doubt about it, and everyone is just waiting for the time when we can have a real crack at them."

This is one of the cheery sentences contained in a letter which was received by Rev. J. Bransby Zachary, O.M.I., St. Patrick's College, from his brother, Dr. R. Bransby Zachary, of Leeds, England.

Rumors that people in England were short of money and that food was scarce were "absolutely utter boloney," Dr. Zachary wrote. Except for the sirens coming once or twice a week and the sound of a plane now and again, which might or might not be a Jerry, the people of Leeds were as much out of the war as Canadians.

STILL SAME CROWDS

"Of course, prices have gone up a bit—they were bound to do so—some quite appreciably, but there are still the same crowds in Brigate and Bond Street on Saturday afternoon and the 'flicks' are packed out."

"More people are at work than ever before, money is freer, the shops are really stacked with food—in fact you would get a shock to walk along Kirkgate and see the colossal stacks of food-stuffs and all sorts of merchandise in the shops. I can honestly say that I have had bigger and better meals this year than ever before."

Dr. Zachary hastened to assure his brother that reports of air fighting over England were accurate and not being "toned down."

"Our radio reports are accurate as regards the fighting in the air, I can tell you that on first-hand authority."

ONLY SERIOUS RAID

The writer stated that his father's dentistry practice was at a "pretty low ebb" for a time. "Then towards the end of August came our only really serious air raid so far. Jerry dropped a little something in our locality, and all that happened was that a few old houses were demolished rather close to home, as a matter of fact the back of our house has joined the rest of the demolished houses."

"Every window was shattered and inside the place looked a wreck. However, Mother got to work and managed to get the surgery and dining-room ship-shape again, and since we've moved out to the Lawnswood district we are not inconvenienced at all. Really it is rather funny at the interest created in a bombed building, and Dad's business has improved wonderfully."

LETTER DATED SEP. 27

The letter, which was dated September 27, also informed Father Zachary that another brother of his, Dr. Geoff Zachary had cabled his home in Leeds from Waziristan in India, where he is stationed with British troops.

Dr. Zachary closes the letter by giving his brother the latest cricket score at the time of mailing. "I heard on the radio that the score was 98 by 5.30 today. The lunch score is usually something like 30 to 2, and when stumps are drawn for the day we are usually 10 wickets down for anywhere between 40 to 200."

Air Leader Honored

LONDON (CP) — Squadron Leader Ronald Gustav Kellett, whose squadron is credited with destroying 113 German planes in one month, has been awarded the Distinguished Service Order.

Salmon fishing on the Columbia River has grown from an early Indian venture to a $10,000,000 a year business.

CANADA'S INDUSTRIES

in Action AT BRITAIN'S SIDE

CANADIAN Industry is the anvil on which Canadians are forging mighty weapons and mechanized armaments for their fighting forces now defending our homeland and England. In times of great danger Canada finds herself blessed with organization, skilled man power and technical equipment needed to fight this war against barbarism.

But Canadian industry was not built by Canadians for war. Canada developed her heavy industries to build railways, machines, bridges, ships. Textile industries for clothes and fabrics. Automotive Industries to supply the increasing domestic and foreign demand for motor cars, trucks and tractors.

Now, war has locked these industries together to form a huge armament assembly line. From this line is now flowing an endless supply of armoured cars, gun carriages and other motorized war equipment, as well as planes, guns, munitions, ships, engines and all the sinews of war needed by Britain and our fighting forces in the terrific battles ahead.

Our first job is to win this war. When we've done that, as with God's help we will do, then we can begin building a new Canada. And then, once more Canada's Automotive Industries, along with their sister industries, war-toughened and efficient, will proudly take their place in the New Peace and stand prepared and ready to carry on the dynamic progress of a greater and happier Dominion.

Now the automobile manufacturer deals with fifteen other vital industries, so by buying a Canadian-built car, the purchaser is helping to pay wages to many Canadian workers and to purchase Canadian raw materials.

These wages, in turn, furnish the means whereby many thousands of our men and women are able to subscribe to War Loan Savings Certificates and pay war taxes. And in the movement of this money from buyer to seller, various taxes are imposed that go into the coffers of our government, affording additional revenue. No matter which spoke you start with, it always leads to the hub.

This group of automobile manufacturers distributes over one hundred million dollars every year in wages and salaries and in the purchase of Canadian raw materials.

KEEPING CANADIAN PLANTS WORKING

We do not feel that we should go into a deep discussion of economics or attempt to harmonize the various schools of thought that deal with the problem of how best to serve our country—whether to spend or save. But this we believe we can say—money spent for necessities produced in Canada is of help to our government.

Take the purchase of an automobile. In the first place it is obvious that a Canadian-built car should be chosen and for two reasons: the American-built car, with the tariff and the present rate of exchange, does not give the Canadian purchaser quite the value afforded by a Canadian-built car—and, still more important, such purchase money would go out of Canada and not help Canadian workmen and women. This is true of any goods not made in the British Empire.

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

ALTHOUGH LITTLE has been said about it in recent weeks, reports from the east indicate James A. Farley's deal for the New York Yankees American League ball club has not fallen through. Farley's associates are said to have put the $1,500,000 down payment in a bank.

The Ruppert estate has to sell, which is why the franchise, and its subsidiaries—Newark, Kansas City, and other minor league outfits—are a steal at $4,000,000. George Weiss, director of the farm, says the chain and talent is worth $10,000,000.

The American League gets another fine executive in Farley, who as chairman of the board will not interfere with baseball's abject organization.

Ed. Barrow, who built it under the late Col. Jacob Ruppert's ownership, will continue as president.

Another major league club expected to change hands is the Boston Nationals.

Charles Francis Adams wanted to get out even before his racing affiliations made him persona non grata in so far as the so-called U.S. national pastime is concerned.

The Bees haven't made money since 1933, but Bob Quinn, who has fronted for Adams and the league since Emil Fuchs dumped a sorry mess back in their laps in 1936, has done such a splendid job of reconstruction that baseball men now say National League rights in Boston are worth upward of $400,000.

They undoubtedly could be obtained for $275,000, and a handful of Bees—the second basing combination of Eddie Miller and "Bama" Russell, and Sibby Sisti, Chet Ross and Max West... to name five—would come close to bringing that amount.

The proposition is so good that Fay Murray, the wealthy Nashville magnate, and others can't help being interested.

A third sound baseball investment would be a sizable share in the lowly Phillies, which could be acquired cheaply.

The Philadelphia club is in such dire financial straits that Gerry Nugent again has to dispose of a star performer to keep the thing going. This time it will be one of the right-hand pitchers, Kirby Higbe or Hugh Mulcahy.

The Phillies have been down so long that the owners would only have to make the slightest attempt to build to fire up pennant winning fever among patient patrons.

Last summer when Clay Puett missed a horse completely in getting a field away from the starting gate, at one of the Vancouver tracks, he took a terrible amount of ribbing from the remainder of the racing officials and his friends. But the youthful British Columbia starter is not the only one to fail to see a horse not in the gate.

The other day at Bay Meadows the veteran E. Thomas released the gate with Mickey D'Boyle still on the outside looking in. "He had red colors, and, looking into the sun, I thought he was the poney boy," said Thomas. "It was all my fault." It was the second time it had happened to Thomas. A refund was made to all ticket-holders, both regular and daily double bettors. Puett was more fortunate. His error did not occur in a race which was tied up in the double.

Senoritas Maria Catalina Encinas and Maria Arcos Cedilla were the first two women to obtain airplane pilot licenses in Mexico.

Ball Players Seek $2,500,000

NEW YORK (AP)—Formal papers were filed in Bronx Supreme Court yesterday in a $2,500,000 civil suit by 10 New York American League baseball players against Sports Editor Jimmy Powers and the News Syndicate Inc.

Joined in the action, based on an article and cartoon which appeared in the Sunday News on August 18 were pitchers Lefty Gomez, John Murphy, Monte Pearson, Atley Donald, Oral Hildebrand, Charles Ruffing and Steve Sundra, second baseman Joe Gordon, catcher Bill Dickey and third baseman Red Rolfe.

Attorney Samuel L. Sargent, counsel for the ball players, said the suits were filed in September, and that a separate $1,000,000 action by Lou Gehrig was based on the same article.

The suit charged that Powers' article contained libelous statements made "in an attempt to explain the reason for a slump in the team's playing."

Several weeks ago the Daily News published a full page article under a banner headline that read: "The News Apologizes to Lou Gehrig and the Yankees."

SUSPEND PLAYERS

MONTREAL (CP)—Johnny Mahaffey and Johnny Acheson, members of Montreal Royals of the Quebec Senior Hockey League last season, have been suspended from organized hockey for failing to live up to agreements to work out with professional clubs this season.

Mahaffey had agreed to work out with Canadiens of the National Hockey League, and Acheson with New Haven Eagles of the American Hockey League. To be reinstated, they must have the approval of the professional clubs involved as well as that of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

Racing Authority Dies at Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—Major Douglas D. R. Eppes, 63, international known authority on racing and show horses, soldier and author, died after a heart attack at his home here yesterday. His racing column, "Hoof Beats," had appeared in the Globe and Mail until last Wednesday when illness forced him to take to his bed. His death came suddenly.

A native of Quebec city, Major Eppes was equally at home in the show ring or at the race track and had written of horses for 20 years.

Deer Plentiful

Deer hunters of Vancouver Island are staging a great battle for possession of the Sylvester U-Drive Trophy, presented each year to the sportsman on the island weighing in the heaviest buck.

In the lead at the present are Romaine Grant and H. Rounding. Both the deer were shot in the Cowichan Lake district. Many fine specimens have been weighed in at the U-Drive office and hunters report the animals are more plentiful than for many years.

Although not one the heaviest, one of the finest bucks placed on the scales was the seven-pointed 67-year-old J. Armour.

Trophy was won last year by L. Bell of Port Renfrew with a monster buck that tipped the scales at 191 pounds.

Winner of the trophy receives in addition a miniature cup and a prize. There will be second and third awards and a consolation prize. Every hunter weighing in a deer will be eligible to win the last named.

The names of those who have weighed in deer so far, along with the districts where they were killed, follow: J. Armour, Kapor; Bill Pailleur, Malahat; E. R. Blake, Metochin; R. McIlroy, Goldstream; J. Mycock, Highlands; L. A. Woodley, Campbell River; Roy Storey, Kapor; D. Clay, Happy Valley; C. Burgess, Cowichan Lake; H. Rounding, Cowichan Lake; Ted Pailleur, Cowichan Lake; K. Fairbairn, Sooke; Ted Bailey, Goldstream; B. Watts, Highlands; W. Gouge, Mayo; Roy Smith, Sooke; C. Walton, Sooke; R. Grant, Cowichan Lake; B. ## MONDOU REJECTS COACHING JOB

LA PRAIRIE, Que. (CP)—Armand Mondou, a veteran of 12 seasons in the National Hockey League with Montreal Canadiens, said last night that he has changed his mind and has rejected the job of coaching New Haven Eagles of the American Hockey League this season. Mondou's appointment was announced Tuesday night.

"Something unexpected happened overnight, however," said Mondou, "and I decided that it would not be possible for me to coach the team. I have decided to retire from the game altogether and devote all my time to my hotel business here."

Rangers Take Easy Victory

BALTIMORE (AP)—Taking another step along the road to a billing as the "Sportiest of All Races," the Pimlico Special next week will be on a "winner take all" basis for the better as well as the horse.

When the field of four, as things now shape up, parades to the post at the hippodrome November 1, the $10,000 will be on the line for the one to come down in front, and the betting, Alf Vanderbilt has decided, will be only "on the nose."

"In that way, with only straight wagers," the Maryland Jockey Club head explained, "there is a direct refutation of any claim that the invitation of over two horses to the special was made to insure more than straight wagers."

"It's a winner-take-all for the winning owner and winner-take-all for the public," said William Woodward's Fenelon definitely out of the race with an injury, and George D. Widenor's Eight Thirty retired for the year, four horses probably will answer the starter's call to "let 'em come." These are the four-year-old bosomeys: William L. Brann's Challedon and Mrs. Payne Whitney's Hash, the three-year-old Midland from Charlie (Lucky) Howard's barn, and Myron Sleznick's five-year-old Can't Wait.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (CP)—Indications in the Toronto Maple Leaf training camp here yesterday are that Buddy Hellyer and Nick Knott, former Oshawa junior stars, will be offered pro hockey contracts with the Leafs and if they accept they likely will be transferred to Pittsburgh Hornets of the American League for seasoning.

The report is not official but it gained weight with appearance of Larry Aurie, coach of the Pittsburgh team, here Tuesday.

BOSTON VISITS OTTAWA
HERSHEY, Pa. (AP)—With more than a week of idleness looming for Boston Bruins between their National Hockey League opener in Montreal on November 3 and their home opening against Chicago Black Hawks on November 12, Manager Art Ross announced yesterday the team would play an exhibition game November 5 in Ottawa.

It will mark the Bruins' first visit to the Canadian capital since 1934, when Ottawa withdrew from the league. Ross said he had lined up Ottawa Senators of the Quebec Senior Amateur League for the game.

DETROIT WINS
DETROIT (AP)—Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League went up two in the annual city series with their farm club, Indianapolis Capitols, of the American League, with a 6 to 4 victory last night.

WIEBE BADLY CUT

HIBBING, Minn. (CP)—Art Wiebe, Chicago Black Hawks' defense man, yesterday became the first casualty of the National Hockey League club's training season. Manager Paul Thompson said he believed Wiebe would be available again by tomorrow.

ONE RUGBY MATCH

5th Brigade to Battle Chinese

Three cage games will be presented by the Victoria and District Basketball Association this evening at the Willows Sports Centre, Chinese Students and 5th Brigade N.P.A.M. senior B units, clashing in the main duel on the program.

Students ushered in their bid for divisional laurels last week with a victory, and will seek to make their record two-straight. The Chinese squad is pretty much the same as that which got into the senior B finals last year. From the militia camp comes reports that the 5th will floor a squad that will give the Chinese lads a good brand of competition.

Winners by a 46 to 20 score in the first game Wednesday night, 5th Brigade N.P.A.M. senior C hoopers take on Hornets in the second game. The artillerymen have a strong squad campaigning for the honors, with Bob Wallace and Jack Skellern packing the scoring punch. Little is known as to the make-up of the Hornets.

Opening game on the card will bring together Jack Taylor's Cardinals and Walter Yeaman's Unites, women's teams, at 7.

Conditions were attached to approvals granted Mr. and Mrs. David Bryce to change 131 Clarence Street into a two-family home, and Mrs. H. R. Arnold was given permission to add to a house at 630 Rothwell Street provided she secured a strip of adjoining property.

The request of W. H. Spence to add to a house at 2739 Belmont Avenue was turned down and a conversion request from Mrs. M. Mulligan covering 124 Eberts Street was tabled.

Conditional approval was given Miss Annie A. Paisley's application to convert 1408 Stadacona Avenue into a two-family home.

Forecasts Early Union of Nations

Forecasting the union of English speaking peoples before 1944, Captain Elmore Philpott yesterday evening addressed an audience in the Salvation Army Three Services Canteen.

"That is the only way we can survive. We have to get together or we are going down," he declared as he outlined the need for amalgamation of the British Commonwealth and the United States. Japan's activities in the near future would assist in creating the union, he said.

Contrasting Nazi philosophy with the principles of freedom and brotherhood that were British, he declared the German group preached everlasting war as mankind's highest destiny, with the woman functioning as producers of cannon-fodder.

Against the Hitler idea that the individual was the unimportant creature of the state, he pointed to the democratic point of view that the state was created for the man. For that ideal the British were fighting, he said.

He discounted the claims of civilization put forward by the Nazis, saying they stood directly opposed to the cardinal principles of civilization.

Duncan MacBride introduced the speaker, who was thanked for his address by Adjutant C. J. Milley.

Want School Cost Burden Altered

Property owners, labor representatives, retail merchants and municipal leaders joined with school trustees yesterday afternoon to ask the provincial government to assume a larger share of the cost of education in British Columbia.

A delegation representing a dozen or more organizations met the cabinet in special session and urged the move so that the standard of education would not fall owing to wartime conditions.

George C. Grant, secretary of the B.C. School Trustees' Association, with Trustee P. E. George of Victoria, president, led the group which included officials of the following organizations: Union of B.C. Municipalities, B.C. Parent-Teacher Federation, mainland boards of trade, Fraser Valley Reeves' Association, Vancouver Property Owners' Association, Vancouver and District Trades and Labor Council, mainland groups of the Local Council of Women and Retail Merchants' Association.

Mr. Grant said the representations were nonpolitical but were the combined view of the many organizations who thought the time had come to redistribute the cost of schools.

Trustee George, mentioning Victoria's problems, said this city was now getting $90,000 from the province where it once got $120,000. Alderman John Bennett of Vancouver spoke for the municipal union.

The government made no commitment on the question but promised to take the representations under serious consideration. No action is expected at the coming session.

Motorists paid $35 for traffic fines in Saanich Police Court yesterday. Two were fined $10 each for exceeding the speed limit in school zones, while three others were fined $5 each for jumping stop signs.

A man who had laid a charge against his neighbor for using grossly insulting language failed to show up at City Police Court this morning. The charge was struck out and at the request of Prosecutor Claude L. Harrison, Magistrate Henry Hall ordered costs be directed against the informant.

TOWN TOPICS

A wife who appeared in City Police Court this morning wishing a charge of assault against her husband withdrawn was warned by Magistrate Hall that they should settle their difficulties before coming to the court. He consented to the withdrawal, however, on payment of $2 costs entailed in serving of the summons.

G. W. Brinkworth, Vital, Manitoba, reported to city police that at 5 last evening while backing his car into a parking place on the north side of Fort Street he met a No. 10 street car in a collision. While he and the street car operator were giving opinions on the accident a fire broke out under the street car, caused by a short circuit. Firemen were called and soon had the fire out.

Rev. Elbert Paul, Vancouver, will speak at the evening session of the Vancouver Island Baptist Association in the First Baptist Church, Quadra Street, tomorrow. The afternoon session will start at 3.30 and will include discussion groups for both men and women. Representatives are expected from all Baptist churches on the island. The theme of the association is: "The Challenge to the Church in Wartime."

A resolution expressing the city's gratification at the desirable site and excellent layout of the militia training centre at Gordon Head, inspected by the mayor and aldermen last Sunday, was prepared today by Ald. W. H. Davies for the City Council at its next meeting. The motion also conveyed compliments and congratulations to Hon. J. L. Ralston, Minister of National Defence, and Lieut.-Col. T. B. Mork, commanding officer at the centre, on the camp generally.

Perry With Pattullo On Highway Issue

Support for Premier Pattullo's declaration that appointment of a highway commission for B.C. would be folly, came today from H. G. T. Perry, M.P.P. for Prince George, former Speaker of the Legislature, and regarded as one of the foremost constitutionalists in the House.

Mr. Perry, who arrived today in advance of the opening of the session, said he was pleased with the Premier's stand against "creation of any more bureaucratic boards which assume the function of a ministry."

"A highway board would be much the same as other boards that have been created," he said. "In such things as the Public Commission, the Workmen's Compensation Board and the Liquor Control Board there is no such thing as real responsibility to the House. Theoretically, yes, but in practice it doesn't work that way."

Wants New View, Moves 3 Houses

If you don't like your neighbors, you can always move. So thinks S. Coxworth, of Wildwood Avenue, who owns three houses in the southeast sector at the Fort Street-Oak Bay Avenue intersection.

But Mr. Coxworth goes a little further. He moves the houses too.

Three permits were issued to Mr. Coxworth by the city building inspector's department today, covering $500 worth of work each as he transfers his Junction dwellings from Fort Street and Oak Bay Avenue to Morrison Street. At present, the houses are immediately adjacent gasoline service stations. When the transfer is completed, one will have been moved a distance of 380 feet to Morrison Street, another 230 feet and the third a distance between the two extremes.

Real Estate Board Discuss Rental Tax

W. B. McFadden, of the Royal Trust Company, at a luncheon meeting of the Real Estate Board today in Spencer's dining-room, gave a brief analysis of the Dominion income tax concerning rentals from Canadian properties being received by non-residents. Ever since 1933 the Dominion has taxed the net rentals of property owned by non-residents of Canada. In August of this year this method of taxation was changed to one of collecting the 5 per cent tax on the gross rentals, that is, as collected from the tenants.

Soldier on Trial For Manslaughter

A man with some experience riding a motorcycle solo would require instruction to handle a motorcycle with a sidecar, an Asize Court jury was told today as the manslaughter trial of Dorsey W. McMahon continued here.

McMahon was committed for trial as the result of the fatal crash which claimed the life of Earl McMillan, sidecar passenger, five days after the cycle, allegedly driven by McMahon, crashed into a light standard at the corner of Eberts Street and Dallas Road on October 3.

Testimony on ability of a solo driver to handle a sidecar machine was given by F. S. Carson, ordinance department, expert on motorcycles, who stated the accused, a soldier, had approached him previously with an inquiry on the way in which he might transfer to the motorcycle detachment. At that time, witness stated, the accused said he had had some solo experience on a motorcycle.

Witness described the damage done to the machine, a new piece of equipment, when it crashed into the lamp standard.

When the trial opened yesterday afternoon, Dr. Russell D. Thompson testified to the injuries of the deceased and said McMahon had suffered from slight contusions.

Constable Harry Mercer gave evidence on conditions he had found when he responded to a call. The jury later in the day visited the scene of the accident and inspected the motorcycle.

Today crown evidence continued, with ex-constable Reginald Lanning giving further testimony on the condition of the road, the motorcycle and the wheel marks.

To Study War Fire Fighting

Information on the manner in which London and Liverpool fight fires caused by war activities under war conditions will be sought by the city fire department in communications to the British centres.

Decision to write for such data was reached at a meeting of the fire wardens in the City Hall this morning.

The wardens did not wish to cause any undue alarm through their inquiries, but expressed the view such information should be secured in advance of any activities which might develop on the Pacific coast.

Approval was given by the committee to a recommendation of the fire chief calling for payment of firemen replacing those leaving for overseas service on the regular department wage scale.

Such men will, however, be regarded as temporary help, and will not secure superannuation benefits. If the warden's recommendation is accepted by the council, they will start at the regular probationers pay of $60 a month and work up as they pass through the different grades.

Tenders for tires and cable were studied, and authority was given for transfer of automatic traffic signal control equipment from the Market Building to the police station quarters, where other alarm equipment is located.

SAILOR FALLS DOWN ELEVATOR SHAFT

Thomas Dolan, sailor, is believed to have suffered a fractured right thigh as a result of a two-story fall through an elevator shaft yesterday around noon in the Cross Apartments, 1308 Douglas Street.

Dolan fell from the second floor to the basement. X-rays of his injuries were taken this morning. Mrs. M. Evans, manageress, told city police that she heard something falling and on reaching the elevator shaft saw the door open.

Police found that the toilet and elevator shaft were side by side. Both doors are of the same pattern. It is assumed that Dolan mistook the elevator door for the bathroom door. Police were told the key is always left in the elevator door.

Note Conductor Reaches Canada

SIR THOMAS BEECHAM

Sir Thomas Beecham Bart., conductor of London's famed Philharmonic Orchestra was in Victoria today after conducting orchestras for the last three months in Australia.

"I haven't been in Canada for 40 years," he said.

The dynamic, bearded conductor, in the top flight of contemporary music, was immaculately dressed in black and smoked a cigar as he talked to newsmen.

"They tell me I said some unkind things about Australians and their choice and appreciation of music," he said. "I really don't recall it."

Sir Thomas, the second baronet of his line, is now 61. He will conduct the Vancouver Symphony and give concerts also in Ottawa and Montreal. Then he will lecture and conduct in the United States and hopes to reach England next spring.

On the three-week voyage from Australia Sir Thomas spent much of the time in his cabin, working on two books, one telling of his work in music the last 45 years and the other a collection of essays.

"The London Philharmonic is the only symphony that carries on all the year," he said. "Yes, even in wartime that orchestra gives concerts—it is carrying on."

Heir to the Beecham title is Sir Thomas' 36-year-old son, Adrian. Lady Beecham is American born and was formerly Utica, daughter of Dr. Charles S. Welles of New York.

2 FINED $50

George E. Hamn and Cyril J. Hague were found guilty by Magistrate H. C. Hall in City Police Court this morning in separate charges of assisting in giving notice of a contest and were each fined $50. Norman Whittaker, K.C., appeared for both accused.

City Prosecutor C. L. Harrison called nine witnesses who testified they had been approached by Hamn to sell tickets from booklets entitled "The War of 1940" souvenir book. A statement on the booklets said "profits, are for war charities and services... with awards up to $40,000."

Offer to Aid Pension Plan

Establishment of a standing committee representative of groups in civic services to work in conjunction with the superannuation commissioner for the purpose of facilitating the operation and enforcement of the Municipal Superannuation Act won general favor at yesterday's session of civic representatives from Victoria, Vancouver and New Westminster.

The delegates yesterday afternoon discussed superannuation matters with Norman Baker, superannuation commissioner, and reported their interview highly satisfactory.

Prior to meeting Mr. Baker, delegates at a general meeting passed a series of resolutions on the question.

One expressed a strong protest to the proper authorities against employment of individuals on a temporary basis by any city or municipality after individuals had been retired or had reached the maximum retiring age.

The meeting also endorsed a protest against the announced policy of the City of Vancouver in failing to provide superannuation facilities, through listing employees as temporary, probationers, police specials, etc., and asked that a ruling be sought from Commissioner Baker that probationers, temporary employees and other such employees be brought under the Superannuation Act within three months of the date of their engagement.

The meeting further protested any suggestion of amending the present compulsory retirement ages as set out in the act.

WOULD PROTECT WIDOWS

The city also sought inclusion in the act of a clause providing protection for widows to the full 50 per cent value of the pension due if an employee dies between the minimum and maximum retiring ages before having been granted a superannuation allowance.

Another recommendation covered definition of professional officers and set minimum ages at which certain maintenance and construction employees should be admitted to the superannuation scheme.

A request was also put forward for an annual financial statement from the commissioner to each individual contributor under the act.

A final proposal called for a check on the matter of listing and defining various police and fire department employees, such as garagemen, clerks, secretaries, fire wardens, policemen and firemen, to eliminate possibility of favored individuals evading retirement at compulsory retirement ages of their class by claiming service under a different class.

A.R.P. Wardens Meeting Tonight

The quarterly rally of the Warden Division, A.R.P., will take place tonight in the Chamber of Commerce Hall at 8, when over 400 wardens and A.R.P. members will attend. Dr. W. L. Glendon, Dominion A.R.P. officer, and Inspector S. F. M. Moodie, Provincial A.R.P. officer, will be present. The two A.R.P. officers are here conferring with city officials and A.R.P. officers.

MARKET IMPROVED

Due to the Eastern situation and because of new market outlets, the apple market is showing considerable strength, local wholesalers announced today. The picture has entirely changed from that of three weeks ago, when growers could not find sufficient markets for their large crops. The fruit is now being shipped east because of the freeze-up there, but higher prices on some of the apples is looked for before the deal progresses further. Apples at their present prices are of extremely good value.

Imperial Valley grapefruit were reduced in price this week to the lowest they have been in years. Wholesale butter prices have advanced two cents a pound.

The first imported lettuce arrived this week from Idaho. They are hard and clean. Prices will be 9 to 10 cents a head to the consumer.

Stairway accidents are less likely if steps are all of one height.

Giant Water Lilies Grow in British Guiana

British Guiana is in the northern part of South America. It is the home of interesting plants, animals and people.

Among the plants are tree-ferns and giant water lilies. The water lilies have the largest leaves of any plants in the world. They spread out to a width of five feet or more, and rest on the surface of the water.

Indians in British Guiana.

Bellbirds, parrots, toucans, puff-birds, trumpeters, jacanas and horned scremors are among the many forms of bird life.

Monkeys, tapirs and armadillos are common animals. Crocodiles live in and about the rivers, and so do the huge snakes called anacondas.

Other forms of river life in British Guiana are electric eels, sawfish and sharks. It is dangerous to swim in one of the rivers—if a person isn't snapped up by a crocodile or shocked by an electric eel, he may be crushed by an anaconda or cut up by sawfish.

If the Indians of that region need an excuse for not bathing, they have it so far as going into a river is concerned. Fact to tell, they are not at all famous for keeping clean.

The Indians travel about the rivers in the crude boats known as "dugout canoes." They also employ small craft made from tree bark.

The men earn their living almost entirely by hunting and fishing. Often they use the bow and arrow to shoot fish in the water. They carry blowpipes through the forest, and bring down birds and monkeys with poison-tipped darts.

Indian women of British Guiana sow seeds and care for crops. They raise sweet potatoes and corn, but their most important garden product is the cassava plant.

Cassava is as important to those Indians as wheat is to us, or rice to the Chinese. The root is the part which supplies food, and it is poisonous.

At some time in the past, the fact was learned that cooking and other treatment will destroy the poison in the cassava root. It then becomes fit to eat. The pulp is grated and spread on a hot stone, where it is cooked as a "pancake."

Here is another point about cassava. Starch taken from the root is turned into tapioca. Much of the tapioca sold in stores in our country comes from South America.

HOROSCOPE

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 26

Adverse planetary aspects dominate until late today. It is a time to avoid all risks, financial, political and social. The evening is promising for meetings at which public questions are discussed.

Women are subject to depressing planetary influences today. They should put aside apprehension regarding the future by assuming courageous acceptance of changes that affect Canadian life.

Temptation to speculate should be ignored, for there will be many stock fluctuations and rapid-fire industries that promise quick fortunes.

Anxiety in the Far East will be increased as Japan continues aggressive policies. Greed for great resources will spur ambitions to deprive Great Britain of many colonies.

Persons whose birthdate it is will have a year of successful work that promotes ambitious plans. Women will enjoy many pleasant surprises.

Children born on this day, probably will be keen in mind and possessed of varied talents. They may cause opposition because of their determined or stubborn pursuit of their ambitions.

LANGFORD

Sixty containers of jam, bottled fruit and vegetable juices will be taken by Mrs. D. B. F. Dullen to the Queen Alexandra Solarium as a result of a shower held by the Langford Women's Institute at their monthly meeting Tuesday. Mrs. L. J. A. Savary pre-

FROM WHAT IS LICORICE EXTRACT MADE?

ANSWER: From the licorice plant.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I had been philandering around with other men, but finally decided I had got tired of it, so I told my husband all about my escapades and that I was sorry for them and would never be naughty again. He told me that he had known about it all the time, but he loved me so much that he was waiting for me to get weary of my affairs and tell him that I was sorry, so that we could finish our lives happily together. I have a wonderful husband and I do love him, but I believe I would love him more if he didn't have quite so much patience with me.

SURPRISED.

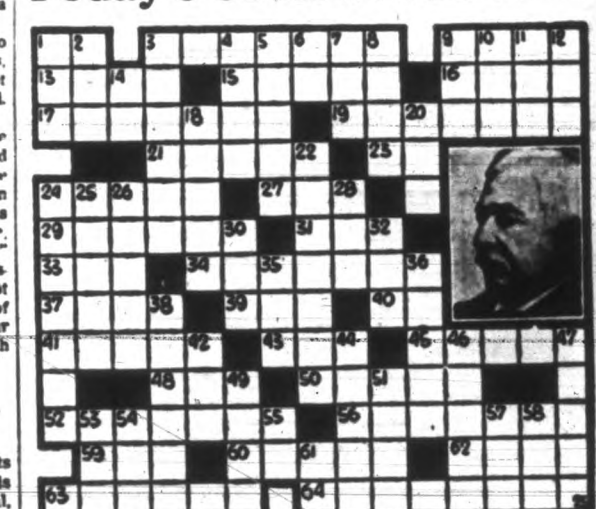

Answer: I should say you have every right to be surprised at finding out that you are married to a man with such an abnormal capacity for forgiving as your husband seems to have. He is a museum specimen whose like most of us have never seen.

But I am afraid his patience will be ill rewarded, for evidently you prefer the caveman type of husband who would drag you around by the hair of your head and beat all thoughts of wandering out of your flighty head. Maybe that is a stivistic and all of us women have a secret contempt for the man who will kiss our feet while we are trampling all over him. At any rate, I have never known a woman who henpecked her husband who had any respect for him.

How does the old rhyme go: "A woman, a dog and a walnut tree, the more you beat them the better they be."

Prohibition Move By Prairie W.C.T.U.

MOOSE JAW (CP)—Women's Christian Temperance Union delegates decided to launch a Cana-

Hunter Gets Bear Taking Sheep Toll

A black bear which killed 10 sheep in three months at South Cowichan, fell on Tuesday to the gun of Leland Berrow, veteran cougar hunter, after it had crippled Mr. Berrow's dog with a stroke of its paw. It measured 6 feet 10 inches from nose to tail.

Victims of the bear were three sheep belonging to Jack Cavin, three belonging to W. S. Wardroper, three to Mrs. W. D. Mackay, and one to Paul Michelin. Because such losses took all profit out of sheep raising, Mrs. Mackay arranged to sell her entire flock of 42 before she received news that the marauder was dead.

G. A. Tisdall saw another fair-sized black bear crossing the Island Highway just north of Duncan last week.

Recalls Old Victoria; Tells Why Brides Fail

By REBY MACDONALD

Judge and Mrs. C. E. Claypool are in Victoria again. They are celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary. They were headed this way for their honeymoon in 1890 when the young bridegroom was called back to make a campaign speech, for that year he was also running for the Washington State Legislature. When his constituents had been suitably harangued and impressed the young man hustled his bride down to the boat dock in Seattle and they resumed their honeymoon trip to Victoria.

Of this first trip to Victoria 50 years ago, the judge has few memories. "I was too taken up with my bride," he said at the Glenishel today, "and of what a lucky man I was to notice the scenery very much. One bit of scenery which couldn't be ignored, however, was the dock where we caught the boat in Seattle. It wasn't a dock at all, really, but simply a ramshackle state, and we were certainly full of dignity."

"The next year there was the fire which swept over Seattle and almost wiped it off the map. The town was under martial law and I was one of the guards who were called out to prevent looting. Yes, the town has certainly sprung up magnificently from its ashes. Why, I remember when the university campus was all under heavy timber. They were busy logging it off and as far as you could see was stump country. In those days Mr. Rhodes, who used to have a small tea shop, used to come around soliciting orders. Now look at his store!"

SOLVE MARRIAGE PROBLEMS

For the last 12 years, Judge Claypool has heard cases under the heading of "Domestic Relations." With 50 years of a successful happy married life behind him, he speaks to these unhappy people truly, and with a deep understanding of their problems. From the records of his court he says troubles in married life come generally from three things. In importance they are: (1) Drinking, (2) financial troubles, and (3) too much talking from women.

Concerning the third reason, the judge said: "A great many women talk too much and, alas, too unwisely. The reason for it goes right back to their childhood. Now a small boy, as soon as he goes to school, learns to hold his tongue about some subjects. He learns quickly that if he says such and such a thing, another small boy will haul off and hit him so he keeps quiet. In upper school and at college, the fact that it is unwise to talk about some people in a certain way is still more strongly emphasized upon him and by the time he is an adult, he has learned his lesson well. But in a girl child conditioned in this way 'No! She begins at school saying what she likes to the other little girls and she gets away with it. Generally speaking, she is not chastened forcibly by the other little girls. Her eye is not blacked and she is not soundly pummeled. So the habit of speaking out on any subject grows on her and goes completely unchecked and what happens? Well, from the records of my court, a wrecked marriage is one of the most tragic results."

HOME MOST IMPORTANT
"To me, the home is the most important single factor in life. There is enough strife all around us and a man has a right to expect peace in his home. Quarrelling over the dinner table is worse on the digestion than drinking and it counteracts any other training a parent is trying to give his children. A child only respects parents who respect each other and themselves."

Judge Claypool, who is 78 and is as tall and just as straight as he was when he took part in the martial law days of Seattle, is as keen about his job as a young man just starting out.

"There is a tremendous satisfaction in mending broken lives," he says. "I'm never so happy as when one of my couples drops me a line from somewhere in their travels. Couples, who, but for a slight change in their point of view, would be living miserably without each other, homes without heads, children without parents. Yes, I like my job!"

minister to the United States, said if Australia was ever called on to make its contribution to a general war effort in the southwestern Pacific, the contribution would be far from negligible.

He described the natural resources of Australia and the spirit with which Australians would enter any struggle to defend their freedom and independence from an aggressor who sought to dominate the southwestern Pacific.

He said Australians were alive to the real nature of the moral issues at stake in the world and that they were determined to see the war through to the end.

"We do not admit the possibility of defeat, for the struggle is, to us, a second fight for freedom," he said.

Hon. A. L. Macdonald, Canadian Navy Minister, said democracy and the rights granted under democracy can only be maintained by "ever vigilant and vigorous effort."

"For more than a year we in Canada have been in the lists in defence of democracy against its deadly enemies," he said.

"We have sent men and ships and guns and planes over the sea, and we shall send more and still more so long as there is a single Canadian dollar left to be spent or a solitary Canadian citizen to take his stand in defence of freedom."

Meantime, United States citizens were girding themselves to defend their shores and to defend their rights and privileges as free Americans.

Mainguy Boys Hear From Dad

COMMANDER E. R. MAINGUY

There were two very excited small boys in Victoria today, for last night they received a message from their father in Scotland, relayed over the radio by the famous British author, J. B. Priestley.

The boys were Daniel and Christopher Mainguy, sons of Commander and Mrs. E. R. Mainguy. At present they are studying at Glenlyon School, Beach Drive. They did not in person hear the message, for they were busy with their studies, but friends soon phoned their grandmother, Mrs. Walter Nichol, Rockland Avenue, who also missed the broadcast, because her radio reception was not good at the time.

Mr. Priestley, who spoke from Glasgow, said he met two Canadian naval officers, who asked him to send their best wishes to their families in Montreal and Victoria. Although he did not mention the surname, he said one of the officers sent regards to his sons, Daniel and Christopher, in Victoria. Mrs. Mainguy at present is living at the Mainguy farm at Maple Bay. She is the former Marquitta Nichol.

During his broadcast, Mr. Priestley stressed the importance of Glasgow to Britain's war effort, when he spoke from the "Britain Speaks" program.

"The importance of Glasgow cannot be exaggerated," he said. "More and more ships are being built along the Clyde river, and a huge army of skilled men is always at work."

"The sound of riveting in the shipbuilding yards was incessant, and left one with a sense of huge and furious energy," he said.

"It is a comforting din," he said, "because, while it lasts, this seaborne Commonwealth will never be defeated."

It began with creation of general, admiral and other officers' ranks, adoption of dazzling decorations for them, abolition of political commissars, institution of the salute and "revolutionary discipline" and intensification of training.

Red Fleet, organ of the Soviet navy, has found this not enough, and points out that during recent manoeuvres officers had given long-winded, ambiguous orders.

It took one lieutenant 10 minutes to order his troops to fire, the newspaper said. Meanwhile, the "enemy" was firing.

In another case, Red Fleet reported, the "enemy" approached on two sides, the defending officer ordered his men to fire, but didn't say in what direction, and in the confusion, the "enemy" gained the position.

TEIMOSHENKO AT WORK

Through these newly announced changes and various others which preceded them, Marshal Teimoshenko, the former peasant who became a war lord, has converted Russia's armed forces into something like a foreign army and led it into six neighboring countries in his first six months as Commissar for Defence.

Little known before this, Teimoshenko now has become one of the most familiar and popular of the Soviet leaders. He will mark his first half-year by reviewing the Moscow garrison from Lenin's tomb in Red Square November 7—23rd anniversary of the Bolshevik October revolution.

The career which has carried Teimoshenko to this height began at the village of Rumanka, in the Izmailovo district of Bessarabia, where he was born in 1895.

British Score Again in Sudan

CAIRO (AP)—A British patrol inflicted casualties on an Italian unit and put it to flight in an engagement outside Kassala, in the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, British headquarters announced today.

It was the second success for the British forces in this region in as many days. (British general headquarters announced last night Italian forces had suffered 50 killed and 400 wounded in a bitter patrol battle on the frontier of Eritrea and the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan Saturday night and Sunday morning. There were no British losses, the announcement said. The clash occurred near Jebel Abu Gabel, between Kassala in the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, the Tessenet, Eritrea, when the British made a surprise rear attack on 1,000 Italians.)

ITALIAN CLAIMS
ROME (AP)—The text of Friday's Italian high command communique follows:

"In north Africa our advanced columns put to flight enemy mechanized forces east of Sidi Barrani."

(A British communique said that in this operation an Italian camp was successfully raided, eight vehicles being destroyed and one prisoner taken.)

"Our air formations bombed port works at Port Said, a flying field at Cathbur, northwest of Cairo; works at Aboukir, east of Alexandria, Maaten and Bagush; flying fields at Fuka and El Daba and stations at El Daba and Matruh. They had considerable effect everywhere and caused large fires. All our planes returned."

"The enemy air force carried out raids on Tobruk (port in Libya) without consequence and at Bengazi, killing a Libyan and damaging Arab houses without damage to military objectives."

"In east Africa clashes in our favor took place between motorized elements in the Kassala zone and at Setit."

"Our air force bombed ships in Port Sudan harbor. Enemy planes dropped bombs on Azoza and Kassala, wounding five persons; also at Decamer, Asmara, El Uak and El Gaho in Somaliland without consequence."

(A British communique said that at Kassala dive-bombing attacks were made on Italian concentrations while at Asmara aircraft on the ground were attacked.)

English-Speaking People Invincible Forum Told

NEW YORK (CP)—Dorothy Thompson, New York columnist, told the closing session of the New York Herald-Tribune forum yesterday she believed democracy could only be saved by democratic men and women—not by soldiers, tanks and airplanes.

"Today the new British democracy is being born in a hall of bombs," she said. "I believe the English-speaking peoples, with their air and naval bases throughout the world, are invincible."

Referring to the United States, she said "we must not close our eyes to warnings, external and inner, that bid us beware . . ."
